SCRANTON, Pa., April 12.—The press and cornering mills of the Moose Powder Co. were blown up about 11 o'clock this morning, killing five men and injuring twenty others, two of whom will die. The dead are:
EDWARD VANDERBURGH.
JOHN GIBBONS.
DANIEL R. PARRY.
ADAM COLBAUGH.
ALLEN SCHNALE.
The two men whose injuries will certainly result in their death are:
GEORGE ELLIS.
JOHN GREEN.
The injured were carried into nearest houses and cared for variously.

The two magazines which exploded were situated close together, and when, without any warning they shot up into the air, the detonation was awful. To the calamity the structures in the company's yards near the magazines caught fire, and it was with great difficulty that all the property of Mooste corporation was saved from destruction. The fire, which was not the building, the works felt the force of the terrible shock, and those nearest the mills rocked as if they were toy houses in a gale of wind. Not a few of the buildings were blown down within a quarter of a mile of the scene of the explosion, and the roofs of many of them were partially ripped from their supports.

were hurled to a great distance, and no two pieces were found joined together, the postulated buildings being torn to small fragments.

The bodies of the men killed were almost unrecognizable, the force of the explosion having scattered the bodies in every direction. Some of the victims were frightfully mangled, the limbs being torn from the bodies and found at some distance from each other.

The mills have been in operation for several years, and great care has always been taken to prevent any such accident occurring. How the explosion occurred will probably never be known. The quantity of dynamite used was not known, but it has been determined, but it is known that it was many tons.

The sound of the explosion was plainly heard three miles away. The loss to the Niosco company will probably not reach over $100,000.

Meeting to Consider the Establishment of New Branches.
NEW YORK, April 13.—The original Municipal Council of the Irish National League met at Lewit's Hall last night and appointed a com-league and consider the advisability of getting up a mass meeting to declare for an independent party in Ireland. The idea of having some Irish member of Parliament come over to address the meeting on "Parliamentary Reform" was dropped.

Before the committee was named Mr. John G. Dyer, who is known as the "stormy petrel" of the movement, called for resolutions. He asked: "Whether are we drifting? We have been led by the nose for the last six years." He proposed a resolution to support his proposal. He favors a third party. He won't consent to a joint meeting with our rival party. He said he had seen Harrison's poll and has got some Harrison spoils and we ought to get them. He wants to break up the meeting and go home. He said he would like to see a federation meeting in Cooper Union."

"You're a liar," shouted John Nolan. "I've never seen anything of the kind."

"That's right," chafed Chas. Riordan.

"This council and nothing of the kind, and in fact we ordered all our members to keep away."

The members explained to Mr. Dyer that they had no "third party" ideas, and he apologized to Mr. Breslin. The meeting ended peacefully.

Suit Involving the Title to the Lot Heard on Appeal

RICHMOND, Va., April 13.—The Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday heard ar-

allegations of perjury in the case involving the allegation that an option had been given on the lot in which is the grave of the mother of George Washington. The title of the case is Kolbert & Kirby vs. Shepherd, from the Circuit Court of Frederickburg. The records show that on Feb. 28, 1889, the defendant, Shepherd gave Kolbert & Kirby a real estate option on a lot in Frederickburg, for the purchase of the lot, which was $2,500, and included the monument, which has been contributed by a New York man, but never consumed. The records further show that the records bear it out, that they found a purchaser for $30,000 in W. H. Huntington of Baltimore.

parts of the country and attracted much attention. The result was that the people of Fredericksburg held a mass meeting at which resolutions disapproving the proposed sale of the sacred spot were adopted. Mr. Shepherd

But the lot also, the result was a dismissal of the suit instituted by the real estate firm. The decision was against the plaintiffs, the court holding that the spot containing the grave of the mother of Washington could not be the subject of a sale. This opinion will, it is believed, be substantially approved by the Supreme Court. This tribunal intimated as much yesterday in refusing to hear long arguments of the plaintiffs' counsel.

her town, was on trial before Justice Whiteby yesterday, charged by her father with endeavoring to poison him. O'Mera testified that the drinking water furnished him by his daughter had a bitter taste, and that on the morning of March 18, after drinking some tea which she had poured for him, he was seized with convulsions and a physician with difficulty revived him. The effects were those of strychnine. Despite his testimony and the statement of the District Attorney that the evidence was plainly against the girl, the District Attorney's motion to discontinue the case prevailed, popular sentiment having been aroused by evidence that O'Mera compelled his daughter to rise before day-break and engage in ploughing and other farm work.

shot and instantly killed yesterday, Hagart with a companion were, notwithstanding the bar placed upon gambling, indulging in a game of "craps" in a room known as the "Hill room." It is to be noted, however, that the police officers, who discovered that loaded dice were being used, were charged with the apprehension of the gambler, named Davis, was excited. This precipitated a general row, during which Hagart shot and killed the young man. Hagart received his death-wound by a head missile from a huge six-shooter in the hands of a man named "Big Boy," who seemed determined to visit summary justice upon the gambler. The shooting in the city Marshal had a quieting effect, and the crowd dispersed. Davis surrendered.

DURBAN'S ESCAPADES.

Oxford, Ga., April 18.—The New York office have been asked to arrest the Rev. J. H. Durban, alias Burnett, and a woman traveling with him as his wife. He and his alleged wife said they were on their way to New York. Since their departure information has been received that they are fleeing from the church authorities of Southland in California. The charge against this man is that he has been guilty of adultery. It is said to have had numerous escapades with women.

KILLED HIS WIFE.

Boston, Mass., April 13.—James Barry, a married clergyman, alias Burnett, and a woman, were shot to death this morning. He attempted to kill his wife early this morning at their boarding-house, by shooting her in the back, and as a result she is in a dying condition at the City Hospital. She is about 35 years of age, and has a young daughter. Jealousy was the cause of the shooting. Barry left the house after the shooting and is still at large.
